Passport Food Group Announces Acquisition of Golden Pheasant Foods

LOS ANGELES (December 7, 2012) - Passport Food Group, LLC today announced the acquisition of Kent, Washington based Golden Pheasant Foods, LLC ("GPF"). With the acquisition, Passport becomes one of the largest manufacturers and distributors of Asian food products serving the foodservice and food manufacturing industries on the West coast.

Founded in the 1940s, Golden Pheasant Foods is a leading manufacturer and distributor of various authentic Asian noodles, wrap products and other goods, primarily serving the foodservice industries in the Pacific Northwest region. In addition to a broad range of products it imports and distributes through its House of Bee brand, Golden Pheasant specializes in the manufacturing of pre-cooked noodles and fortune cookies. "Golden Pheasant and its team are a wonderful addition to Passport Food Group," said Dave Abrams, Chief Executive Officer of Passport. "Their product suite and strong position in the Pacific Northwest complement Passport Food Group's market segment and will benefit from our nationwide distribution network. Together with our Wing Hing product line, this acquisition brings us one step closer to being able to provide our customers with 'one stop shopping' for all of their Southeast Asian ingredient needs."

Camillo Cheng, President and owner of Golden Pheasant Foods, added, "Dave and his team share our passion for providing the highest quality products combined with great service. Passport's distribution network will allow us to expand nationwide, bringing value to current and future customers."

About Passport Food Group

Passport Food Group is the holding company of Asian food manufacturers Wing Hing Foods (www.winghing.com) and Golden Pheasant Foods (www.goldenpheasantfoods.com). Passport recently sold its Italian pasta company (Royal Pasta) to focus on the Asian food business.
